

Other semester projects possible :

1. Detailed simulations of adsorption processes, including heat and mass transfer processes
2. Optimization of adsorption processes
3. Building data-driven models for membrane processes
4. Building data-driven models for adsorption processes

The first is more suitable to chemical engineering students, the other three are also suitable to computer science students.